

Recognition Letter

September 15, 2004

Kate Campbell Stevenson
Women: Back to the Future
12122 David Drive
Silver Spring, MD 20904

I have been truly fortunate to be able to see two of your performances - one as a professional employee at the Environmental Protection Agency and the other as a Girl Scout leader with my Girl Scout troop. Both shows were extraordinary! Your theatrical ability is out of this world (you should be on Broadway!), and your shows are extremely inspiring and entertaining as well as educational. As an environmental attorney I was especially inspired by your portrayal of Rachel Carson - an ordinary person doing extraordinary things to protect public health and the environment. The girls in my Girl Scout troop were fascinated with your transformation into each character. You actually seemed to bring that person alive on stage for a few minutes. Not only did they learn a lot about the courage and dreams of each woman, they learned that they too can follow their dreams and be whatever they want to be. Your show is extremely rewarding and your characters are all great role models which today's girls desperately need.

Sincerely,

Nancy Parkinson Natoli
Attorney, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
Girl Scout Troop Leader, Troop 5407